

What is Sel-Plex?

Sel-Plex is an exclusive form of organic selenium that we use in Beaverdam Pet Food. It is scientifically proven for use in animal nutrition, with no adverse interaction with other minerals in the diet. Many food manufacturers use Sodium Selenite, an inferior form of selenium. This ingredient is known to be toxic and have harmful health effects on pets.

Benefits of Sel-Plex

- Boosts immunity in adult and senior dogs
- Promotes efficient transfer of selenium to puppies from the mother
- Research shows benefits in reducing cancers, and the onset of Alzheimer's

Does your pet have digestive issues?

In Beaverdam Pet food, we use four digestive aids (prebiotic, probiotic, chicory, Yucca) in addition to montmorillonite clay. This ingredient binds to toxins and bacteria in your pet's digestive tract and removes moisture. This helps prevent diarrhea and in turn, translates to a happier healthier pet.

Does your pet suffer from allergies?

All Beaverdam Pet Food is made with pets that suffer from allergies in mind. The primary cause of allergies for dogs and cats is ingredients such as corn, wheat, and glutens, none of which are used in our food. We also exclude by-products and artificial colorings and flavorings. These ingredients can cause allergies and other harmful effects for pets. We instead, utilize real meat protein from pork and chicken in combination with natural preservatives. The result is a tasty and healthy food that your pets deserve.
